Think of 3 jobs that would use some of the above interests and abilities.

For one of those jobs above, think of 5 more skills, abilities, or interests that someone would need to excel in that role.

Find a company in the North East of England that hires people for that job.

Think about how many processes are involved in designing, manufacturing, testing and selling products - there are more than people think! For each of those processes there will be an associated job.

List as many jobs you can think of that would be involved in getting a new car, from designing it, right through the manufacturing, to buying it in a show room.
